PREFACE

This edition of the Catalogue lists ABS printed publications and other standard products released between 1 January 1987 and 31 December 1990 and those expected to be released during 1991. The Catalogue also provides brief descriptions (abstracts) of the contents of these products. For the first time the International Standard Book Number (ISBN) or International Standard Serial Number (ISSN) is shown.

The Catalogue includes information on standard releases other than by printed publication, e.g. on magnetic tape, microfiche, floppy disk and CD-ROM, and through Telecom's Keylink Service (TELESTATS).

Indexes by medium of release for non-printed products, indexes for State publications and titles, and a subject index are also included.

Suggestions for improvements to the Catalogue, or requests for information on matters not itemised in detail (e.g. unpublished statistics), should be directed to Information Services in any ABS office. The addresses are shown on the back cover.

INTRODUCTION

The Australian Bureau of Statistics is the official statistical organisation for the Commonwealth and State Governments. Its main function is to provide government and the community with an efficient, user-oriented national statistical service.

How to use this Catalogue

This Catalogue refers to products which ABS Central and State Offices have issued since 1 January 1987, or expect to release during 1991. The Catalogue is divided into three parts.

Customised Products and Services are described in Part 1.

Standard Products are listed in Part 2, together with abstracts and other reference information. Part 2 is in numerical order except that within each two-digit subject group, national products precede State entries (see description of numbering system below). Most national publications contain separate statistics for States and Territories as components of Australian totals.

Indexes are shown in Part 3. They include indexes by medium of release for non-printed products, indexes for State publications and titles, and a detailed subject index in alphabetical order. For those interested in a particular subject area, e.g. foreign trade, employment, etc., it may be convenient to identify the range of publications from the list of subject groupings in the contents pages and by this means gain access to all publications within that subject. On the other hand, users with a specific interest, e.g. the production of milk and cheese, industrial disputes, etc., may find it convenient first to check the detailed subject index beginning on page 307.

The ABS Catalogue numbering system

The system consists of a five digit code (e.g. 4101.0).

The first two digits define the subject. There are nine broad groups (e.g. 4 represents social statistics), each of which is divided into a number of more precise subgroups (e.g. 43 is health).

The third and fourth digits are serial numbers which are permanently allocated to publications within categories formed by the first two digits. An allotted number will remain unchanged provided the contents of a publication remain essentially the same.

The fifth digit, after the full stop, represents the State or Territory covered by the statistics.

The codes for each State and Territory are:

0	Australia
1	New South Wales
2	Victoria
3	Queensland
4	South Australia
5	Western Australia
6	Tasmania
7	Northern Territory
8	Australian Capital Territory

Information on ABS releases

Currently the ABS publishes approximately 500 individual statistical titles each year. To supplement this Catalogue, clients may keep up-to-date on recent releases by obtaining the monthly publication Publications Issued in (name of the month) (1102.0). Releases are also listed in Statistics Weekly (1318.0), the Monthly Summary of Statistics, Australia

(1304.0), and the Publications Advice (1105.0) which is issued Tuesdays and Fridays. The Publications Advice gives the titles of all ABS publications expected to be released in the next few days. The last issue of the Publications Advice in each month also contains a list of main economic indicator publications expected to be released in the forthcoming month, and the planned dates of their release. Details of publications expected to be released in the next few days are also available on DISCOVERY.

How to obtain publications

SUBJECT INDEX

This index is designed to assist in determining which ABS publications are relevant to various subjects of specific user interest.

Subject headings are followed by the catalogue number. The relevant page numbers to refer to in this catalogue are also shown (in parentheses).

Most publications issued by Central Office contain separate statistics for States and Territories as components of Australian totals. In addition, more detailed State-specific data are released in a number of publications. These have a fifth digit representing the State or Territory covered by the data. The digits are as follows:

0	Australia
1	New South Wales
2	Victoria
3	Queensland
4	South Australia
5	Western Australia
6	Tasmania
7	Northern Territory
8	Australian Capital Territory

No references are given in this index for Australian and State Year Books (1300.0 – 1301.6) or Pocket Year Books (1302.0 – 1302.6) as each of these publications contains a detailed index. The Year Books should be regarded as the principal general statistical reference works produced by the ABS.

The index is not intended as a comprehensive index of commodities or items covered in the statistics. Particular items of production and overseas trade are largely omitted. Users should, for example, consult the publication Manufacturing Commodities, Principal Articles Produced, Australia (8303.0) which contains a detailed alphabetical index of commodities produced in Australia.
